The aim of marketing is to know and understand the customer so well the product or service fits him and sells itself.

Peter Drucker

Marketing is not the art of finding clever ways to dispose of what you make. It is the art of creating genuine customer value.

It is the art of helping people become better off.

— Philip Kotler —

AZ QUOTES

- Marketing makes selling unnecessary (Peter Drucker)
 - Marketing: create value-satisfying products which the consumers will want to buy.
 - Selling: adopt tricks and techniques of getting customers to exchange their cash for products.

Modern Marketing is a Blend of Art and Science

Focus:

Analytics, testing, measuring, data.

Psychology:

"If you can't measure it, you can't manage it." Focus on facts and research.

Toolkit:

Google Analytics, A/B testing, spreadsheets.

Motive:

Lead generation, sales promotion, measure results and prove ROI.

THE ARTIST (Right Brain)

Focus:

Emotions, storytelling, visuals, brand building.

Psychology:

Dives into thought processes, tries new things, develops creative concepts.

Toolkit:

Design, imagination, content creation.

Motive:

Build brand awareness, stand out, craft the decision-making process.

The key is to make a balance. Both Art and Science are equally required in the world of marketing.

A Marketer's Mindset is a CEO's Superpower.

1 in 5

CEOs have a marketing background.

Better Reputation Score

Marketing CEOs have a better overall reputation score than leaders from almost all other disciplines.

Why Marketers Excel as CEOs:

- They Put Customers First: Their entire discipline is built on understanding and serving the customer.
- They are Masters of Value Creation: They know how to build a competitive advantage that isn't just about price.
- They Possess a Hybrid Skillset: They can think analytically (data) and creatively (brand) at the same time.

Scores vary among group members, based on peer evaluation

- Group assignment

- In-class exercises (group discussion, written assignment, short presentation)
- Written assignments submitted by only 1 member

- Group project

- 1. Conduct a market research to understand existing businesses that serves this target segment to learn about some market gaps and opportunity
- 2. Conduct a consumer research to understand the target segment to learn about their motivation, pain points, unmet needs, preferences, behaviors
- 3. Propose the new business (product/service) that provides a product/service to solve their problems and fulfill their needs and has never been available in Thailand before
- 4. Suggest suitable marketing strategies (price, distribution channel, communication channel) to support the proposed business
- 3 group project presentation sessions (first, second, final)

Example: Group Project

- Target: Screen-attached consumers who experience stress, anxiety, FOMO, low productivity, or burnout due to excessive screen time.
- Challenge: Propose a business, product, service, or experience that helps them digitally detox — either temporarily or as part of a healthier digital lifestyle so they can regain control of their digital habits, improve mental well-being, or reconnect with offline experiences.”

Last term solutions

- GreyGuard is a caregiver-centric safety app where Gen Z co-pilot seniors’ online use via Easy Mode, scam screening, and consent-based shared dashboards;
- PlayNest is a mall/campus pop-up that swaps passive screens for family missions and bite-size digital literacy, issuing badges and a take-home tech pact
- QuestShift (IRL-XP) is a hybrid game layer that grants more rewards for verified offline actions (steps, clubs, sleep streaks) than late-night grinding
- IRL Link is a trust-first campus matching app that quickly forms micro-crews for sports, study walks, and café co-work with safety and show-up tools—together reducing solo screen time while building healthier habits and community.

Joy Economy

An emerging economic trend where consumers prioritize emotional fulfillment, happiness, comfort, and experiences. Driven by a fast-paced, stressful environment and a desire for wellbeing, consumers increasingly seek small, meaningful joy in their everyday lives rather than big-ticket luxury items.

Key Aspects of the Joy Economy:

- Joy may take different forms, including relief, reward, connection, and meaning. Understanding these differences is critical for marketers.
- The “Lipstick Effect”: An economic phenomenon where consumers still purchase smaller luxury items, such as lipstick, during financial downturns, despite cutting back on larger, more expensive luxury purchases. They are “joy-finding” through affordable indulgences (e.g., collectibles, tea).
- Experiential Retail: Consumers increasingly prefer spending on experiences that offer joy, such as specialized travel or unique hospitality.
- Mental Wellness Focus: The trend emphasizes mental well-being, with 83% of consumers in a VML survey actively seeking joy, driving demand for products that offer comfort and decompression.
- Shifting Priorities: Traditionally, consumers focused on price, quality, and functionality. Today, they increasingly prioritize emotional value, personal meaning, and everyday enjoyment.

In this project, your team will explore how marketing can go beyond functional benefits to create meaningful and emotionally engaging consumer experiences.

Examples

1. Retail & Lifestyle: "Kidulting" and Playfulness e.g., Mc, Lego, Popmart
2. Experiential Hubs: Immersive & multi-sensory e.g., Submersive, Charlott tilbury, Fork n'Film
3. Wellness & Mental Health: meaningful living e.g. ØTHERS functional fragrance
4. Little Indulgences: High-Impact Small Treats e.g., Dove x Crumbl

Project Requirement

- 1. Target Market: Define a clear segment using demographic, geographic, and psychographic factors. Explain why this segment is attractive.
- 2. Consumer Behavior and Insight: Describe how your target currently finds joy and identify a specific tension or unmet need. Explain why this moment matters.
- 3. Market Context: Analyze existing solutions and identify gaps or limitations.
- 4. Value Proposition and Positioning: Clearly state the value you offer and how your idea differs from competitors.
- 5. Marketing Strategy:
 - Product: Key features and experience
 - Price: Pricing approach and rationale
 - Place: Distribution channels
 - Promotion: Communication strategy and key message
 - Your idea must be based on real consumer behavior and supported by basic research such as observation or interviews. Creativity is important, but it must be relevant and strategically grounded. By completing this project, you will apply consumer behavior concepts, develop marketing strategy, and understand how emotional value shapes consumer decisions

Marketing game: you take a role as a marketer designing a bag for your target segment, setting a price, choosing distribution channels, media messages, and communication channels, ensuring positive profit and account balance and sufficient marketing shares

At Its Core, Marketing is a Disciplined Process of Value Creation.

“Marketing is the science and art of exploring, creating, and delivering VALUE to satisfy the NEEDS of a target market at a profit.” – Philip Kotler

Attract new customers by promising superior value.

Keep and grow current customers by delivering satisfaction.

It All Starts with a Human Need.

NEEDS

States of felt deprivation. They are fundamental and pre-exist marketing.

- Physical: Food, clothing, safety.
- Social: Belonging, affection.
- Individual: Knowledge, self-expression.

WANTS

The form human needs take as they are shaped by culture and individual personality.

(e.g., You need food, but you want a Big Mac).

DEMANDS

Human wants that are backed by buying power.

Consumer Value

- The set of net benefits a firm promises to deliver to customers to satisfy their needs/wants

Great Brands Deliver Value Across an Entire Ecosystem

What is Customer Value?

- Value can mean different things to different people at different times
- Consumers perceives value= affordability, or value = good service,
- 1. "I like going to McDonalds – it's such great value – sure, the food isn't that great, but gee you get a lot for your money."
- 2. "I'm happy to pay $300-400 for a pair of shoes – because they last for years. I really can't understand people who buy a $50 pair of shoes every six months."
- 3. "I drive a BMW. Why? Because I always want the best, that's important to me. I usually buy high quality products."
- 4. "I also drive a BMW, but I don't really care about the car – I just want to show my family, friends and neighbors how well I'm doing in life."
- 5. "I always buy my families clothes from Walmart. Look, a shirt's a shirt – why pay more that you have to!"
- 6. "I won't shop at Walmart stores; they are very cluttered and too busy. I prefer to shop at specialist clothing stores. They are quieter, they are much nicer to be in, and you can take your time and comfortably try on clothes."
- 7. "I still shop at the local food stores, rather than going to the big supermarkets. Sure, it's a bit more expensive, but the local shopkeepers are always friendly, you can have a laugh, and they even tell you how to cook the food if you're not sure about it."
- 8. "I switched my home loan from one of the big banks to a credit union. It's going to cost me a little bit more money, but I know that I can trust the credit union, I'm not so sure about the banks anymore."

Q.1 Propose a new mask that

- Meet customers' needs, expectations, solve customer's problems, better than other companies
- Focus on value/benefits from product (not sales promotion).

Q.2 Suggest different customer segments (groups) that require different designs/attributes of masks

'Value' Is the Difference Between What a Customer Gets and What They Give.

Customer Value is a trade-off between the benefits a customer receives and the sacrifices they make.

True Cost to Own (Hidden Costs of Car Ownership)

Benefits & Costs

Satisfaction = The fulfillment of a desire or a need

- Satisfied consumers will often create a steady income stream and positive word-of-mouth.
- Customer expectation > performance (dissatisfied)
- Customer expectation = performance (satisfied)
- Customer expectation < performance (highly satisfied)

Higher satisfaction leads to higher

- Sales
- Willing to pay higher prices
- Profit
- Loyalty

Marketing's Mindset Has Evolved from the Factory Floor to the Boardroom

The Old Way: An 'Inside-Out' Perspective

This philosophy starts with the company and its capabilities, then pushes products onto customers.

Production Era Quote

“Any color so long as it is black.” - Henry Ford

The focus was on production efficiency, not customer choice.

Product Era Quote

“Build a better mousetrap and the world will beat a path to your door.”

The flawed assumption that a good product sells itself, ignoring customer needs.

Selling Era Quote

“Customers must be convinced to buy.”

The focus is on transactions and aggressive sales, not building relationships or delivering true value.

Shared Flaw: All three eras start with the business's needs, not the customer's.

Is this marketing?

Juicero

What happened:

A $400 Wi-Fi-connected juice press — that just squeezed a pre-made bag anyone could squeeze by hand.

The problem:

Built what engineers wanted, not what customers needed.

💬 Where did marketing go wrong?

Flash Sale Countdown

What happened:

Lazada/Shopee timers counting down to zero — then resetting. Prices 'slashed' from inflated originals.

The problem:

Urgency manufactured to pressure a transaction, not deliver value.

💬 Is this marketing — or just selling?

Fake Influencer Review

What happened:

A Thai influencer posts glowing reviews of a supplement they've never used, paid ฿ 50,000, no disclosure.

The problem:

Promotion without honesty destroys trust — and ultimately the brand.

💬 What's the long-term cost to the brand?

The Revolution: An “Outside-In” Perspective

This philosophy starts by understanding the customer and the market, then creates products to meet their needs.

The Marketing Concept Flow

1. Start with Customer Needs: Use research to understand the marketplace.
2. Identify Market Opportunities: Find where needs are unmet.
3. Develop Marketing & Products: Design an offering that delivers superior value.
4. Cultivate Customers: Build profitable, long-term relationships through satisfaction.

From “finding customers for your products”
to “finding products for your customers.”

Marketing Definition (American Marketing Association)

1935

The performance of business activities that direct the flow of goods and services from producers to consumers

1985

The process of planning and executing the conception, pricing, promotion, and distribution of ideas, goods, and services to create exchanges that satisfy individual and organizational objectives

2004

An organizational function and a set of processes for creating, communicating and delivering value to customers and for managing customer relationships in ways that benefit the organization and its stakeholders

2017

The activity, set of institutions, and processes for creating, communicating, delivering, and exchanging offerings that have value for customers, clients, partners, and society at large.

5. Societal marketing concept

- Philosophy: maintain or improve both the consumer's and society's well-being in the long term.
- Focus:
 - Social and environmental responsibility and Sustainable marketing that meets the present needs & preserve long-term welfare and needs of future generation
 - Balancing profit, satisfaction, social welfare in evaluating firm's performance (people-planet-profit)

Ethical marketing: application of ethics (moral standards) into the marketing process to promote honesty, fairness, responsibility in their marketing efforts.

Examples of unethical marketing

Marketing research	Falsify/misuse information. Invasion of personal privacy. Disclosure of personal info.
Product	- Expired, contaminated, low quality - Planned obsolescence (out of date/useless) - Brand (imitate)/Packaging (larger container), Labeling (incorrect /incomplete info, small font)
Price	Price Discrimination, Deceptive pricing, Price gouging/increase
Distribution	Power of channel leader, gray market
Promotion	Deceptive advertising (misleading, exaggerating)
Internal marketing	Firing, hiring, discrimination, poor working conditions

Exercise: The good, The bad, The ugly

- Provide examples of Thai/International brands that you think has done

A Good marketing

1. customer-oriented, focus on customer's needs
2. socially and environmentally responsible
3. purposeful, make a difference to people's life
e.g. inspiring people

VS.

A Bad marketing

4. myopic, focus on product, ignore customer needs
5. mindless, focus on sales, tricking customers into buying things they may not need/want
6. unethical, illegal

Marketing is all around us. It is used by profit, non-profit, and individuals

Nontraditional Marketing

- As marketing evolved into an organization-wide activity, its application broadens far beyond its traditional boundaries of for-profit org.

Type	Brief Description	Examples
Person marketing	Marketing efforts designed to cultivate the attention and preference of a target market toward a person	Athlete Aaron Rodgers, Green Bay Packers quarterback; celebrity Toby Keith, country singer
Place marketing	Marketing efforts designed to attract visitors to a particular area; improve consumer images of a city, state, or nation; and/or attract new business	California: "Find Yourself Here." Colorado: "Enter a Higher State." Illinois: "Right Here. Right Now."
Cause marketing : Safety , health, crime, minority (poor, disabled, race), environment	Identification and marketing of a social issue, cause, or idea to selected target markets	"Click it or ticket." "Refill, not landfill."
Event marketing	Marketing of sporting, cultural, and charitable activities to selected target markets	Rio Olympics American Diabetes Association Tour de Cure
Organization marketing	Marketing efforts of mutual-benefit organizations, service organizations, and government organizations that seek to influence others to accept their goals, receive their services, or contribute to them in some way	American Red Cross: "Together, we can save a life." March of Dimes: "Working together for stronger, healthier babies." St. Jude Children's Research Hospital: "Finding Cures. Saving Children."

Lessons learned from successful cases

 Why/How are they successful? What are their marketing activities aimed to attract/retain fans?. What value they bring to customers?

-  • Person marketing: Elon Musk, Blackpink/BTS (what are strategies of YG/Big Hit?)(Not the outcomes of their success)
-  • Place marketing: Amazing Thailand/ Korea
-  • Social cause: ICE bucket challenge
-  Sport marketing: Liverpool
-  • Political marketing: Obama, Move forward, Pheu Thai
-  Organization: a particular religious community/hospital/school/charitable foundation

Recap Session 1.1

- Marketing is managing customer relationship at a profit.
- Marketing is about understanding and satisfying customers' needs/wants
 - by creating, communicating, delivering offers
 - offers have value (benefit-cost) to (target) customers to make them better off
 - value should be different from, superior to that of competitors
 - value not just customers but also society
- Marketing and innovation are 2 functions in the organization that helps find and keep customers by creating a competitive advantage, resulting in customer satisfaction, loyalty, and long-term profit.
- Good marketing is honest, responsible, purposeful
